

A simple guide to our universe

If you want to know more about our universe but don't want to spend ages reading about it, this book will tell you all you need to know about our Universe in brief user-friendly language that anyone can understand. It's not rocket science. Written by 14-year-old James Green (not real name for obvious reasons) this book is a collection of his work in several areas of the sciences, showing that if a 14-year-old can understand it anyone can.
