Sometimes the dice are with you and sometimes they're not. Ten years ago, Steve Gordey's wife was the fourth victim of the infamous After School Killer. Steve is still haunted by that day and remains obsessed with the serial killer who has since taken nine more lives. After his wife's murder, Steve abandoned his secure career and now makes his living playing craps, traveling around the country to various lifestyle suits, allowing him to avoid personal relationships. However, on his first night in Biloxi, Mississippi, he meets Debbie Boyd, his polar opposite, a flaming extrovert who loves people and loves life. Debbie reawakens old feelings in Steve and he struggles against them, risking losing her and the potential happiness she offers. He regresses to the familiar; immersing himself in the After School Killer case and discovering a buried clue that could help the FBI task force to finally identify the serial killer. But they must move fast because the After School Killer has a new target in his sights.
