

MYSTERY:CRIME: Detective Murder Thrillers THE GHOSTWRITER (Serial Killer Suspense Books Thriller Action Stories): Detective Thriller Novel Series (A Gripping, ... Detective Thriller Collection Book 1)

Thats it?, the detective asked, knowing there was much more to why this man was murdered in his house, on his living room floor in such a grotesque fashion. His partner answered nervously, no no, sir. We combed through every inch of this house, and we couldnt find anything significant that would make us think any other way about- The detective walked away from his partner before he could finish his sentence. The truth is, Detective Shaun Burgess loathed the fact that he had a partner. He had always been a loner but ever since his last case, when he was almost killed, his Sergeant deemed that it would be best to have an extra pair of eyes watching his back. Sarg, I dont need the help. You know I work better alone. Havin to babysit somebody else while I do my job is liable to get me killed out there! What do ya mean you dont need help? And you did almost just get freaking killed an hour ago. By yourself! Im fine. No, youre not fine, he walked over to slam the door shut, listen, Mack, youre one of my best if not THE best detective we have on this lousy squad and I cant go out losing you to some thugs who dont have anything to lose. He looked sternly into his Sergeants eyes, a look that a statue would do its best to emulate, Ill be fine. The Sergeant didnt move from his position. Alright, Boss. At least let me pick the guy that might get me killed. The detective sighed as he ran his hands through his hair out of frustration, Alright, Burgess. Alright ... Download this story and continue reading now ... FREE for Kindle Unlimited Users and Prime Members He risks his life if he has to, hes done it over and over. It wasnt about his salary, maybe Detective Burgess aka Bull was strung on being the best. Simply that. The arrogant and rude bastard solved crimes in days at the most, BUT when he was at one of the most grotesque murder scene with his only real evidence being a manuscript for a novel, things changed. As he read the unfinished novel, it had written in it an exacting murder scene as the one he was looking at. The scene in the novel was exacting to the tee. Hes never seen anything like this before and grows more than perturbed. Why would someone document their own murder in a novel, unless its a ghostwriter, right? When another crime scene turn ups with another manuscript for a novel with a murder scene exactly like another that he was called to again this ghostwriter serial murderer drives Detective Burgess into a wall of defeat as he can no longer solve this one. Whoever the killer is, is fifteen steps ahead of him. Maybe Burgess isnt the best after all? Well, not under his watch. Sleepless nights at the station without baths and shaving, obsessed with chasing a ghost, a ghostwriter, who already has all the other police thinking that Detective Burgess is turning into a nut case and finally outwitted with a mystery on his hands that he will never solve.
