

report from the desert

Standed in this damp city makes my bones freeze beyond recognition. Its also hard to brathe normally, very much like the very hot weather of the desert. Take out the zire from the coat pocket and read a few pages of the book of the month just to kill a little time. I dont concentrate on what Im reading, instead I think about the best way to get these local people to cooperate in my mission. Its not always like this, but today, this is how I feel; kind of lost in too many doubts and too much humidity. I wonder how long does the winter lasts around here I Hope not too much. But anyway, Im only here for a week or two Note by the editor: The Report from the desert was published between October and December 2004 at reportdesert.blogspot.com by an unknown author signing as RD. It is also available at angelfire.com/film/filmzero/, together with other writings. Greyscale Press is releasing the first print edition of this enigmatic text.
