

Nt Gilty

J. Bradley Crawford, criminal attorney, believes that winning at all costs, without morality or ethics, is the key to success. Crawford is hired to defend his client charged with assault. To guarantee acquittal, Crawford kills three witnesses to the assault. His client is now charged with the murders that the attorney has committed. Will the attorney spend the rest of his life in prison? Crawford's master plan begins to unravel soon after the multiple murders. The alibi witnesses aren't as numerous or as strong as Crawford first planned. He faces a national media trial as a decided underdog. The trial pits an attorney who must win against an unseasoned prosecutor. A brilliant trial judge, with a salty sense of humor, keeps the trial moving at a fast pace.
