

Dead Spy Running

This is a compelling espionage thriller that updates the spy novel for the 21st century. Starting with a plot to blow up the London Marathon, this is an edge of the seat action thriller in the vein of James Bond and Jason Bourne, with the writing style of John le Carre, involving a complex plot covering terrorism, modern espionage and torture. Daniel Marchant, a suspended MI6 officer, is running the London Marathon. He is also running out of time. A competitor is strapped with explosives: if he drops his pace, everyone around him will be killed, including the US ambassador to London. Marchant tries to thwart the attack, but is he secretly working for the terrorists? There are those in America who already suspect Marchant of treachery. Just like they suspected his late father, the former head of MI6. On the run from the CIA, Marchant is determined to prove his fathers innocence in a personal journey that takes him from Wiltshire, via Poland, to India. It was here that the former MI6 chief once met with one of the worlds most wanted terrorists, and where the new President of America is shortly to visit. But was that meeting proof of a mole within MI6 or the best penetration of Al Qaeda the West has ever had? And was Marchants father the keeper of another, darker secret? This recording is unabridged. Typically abridged audiobooks are not more than 60 per cent of the authors work and as low as 30 per cent with characters and plotlines removed.
