

A paranormal wolf novel with real teeth, plus theme, strong plotting, rich characterization...and style to spare. North-Martinos a writer to watch for.—Reb MacRath, award-winning author of The Suiting and Caesars Ghost THEY ARE COMING... Detective Adrian Callahan misses his wife, and can't find a new meaningful relationship. To take his mind off his own troubles, he focuses all his efforts on a missing persons case he believes is tied to a series of unsolved serial murders, a case that is quickly going cold. Facing opposition from the police chief, who needs to put limited resources elsewhere, Callahan is ordered to investigate a string of wild animal attacks that have been occurring within the city limits. The attacks become more frequent and stranger, and he quickly finds himself in uncharted territory, believing in creatures that his rational mind knows can't exist. Now he must find the young female victim, he feels may still be alive, before the animals he's hunting take him off the case permanently. THEY WILL SHOW NO MERCY... Captain Amanda Rann has spent most of her adult life in the military. She has little to show for it except a failed marriage, and a burning desire to get back to the two little girls she loves. But before she can return to civilian life, she has one last mission to complete. Amanda finds herself in charge of an all male Special Forces unit, tasked with completing the toughest black ops mission of their lives. But maintaining unit integrity is the least of her worries, these creatures have come to settle a score. And when she faces them, she'll know they are the... WOLVES OF VENGEANCE
