

Bards and Sages Quarterly (October 2009)

This issue features The Mysteries of London, the award-winning short story by author Ken Thomas. The crippled dragon Fornax had planned carefully for his much-desired trip to London. But all his planning could not prepare him for the strange series of events that would find him at the heart of peculiar mystery as the London papers professed in stunning headlines Young Girl Murdered! Varney Strikes for Real! The hunt is on, but who will win in a case of an aged dragon versus a vampire? Also in this issue, the deadly game of cat (or, rather, wolf) and mouse between Gwynne and the Dubh Sithe comes to a conclusion in William Meikles Hair and Graces. Plus more exciting, original speculative fiction. Each issue of the Quarterly brings fans of speculative literature a wide range of works from exciting new and established authors.
