

The Heaven that is Home

New York Times bestselling author Sharon Page introduces readers to Nigel Hazelton, the future Duke of Langford, as he leaves his home, Brideswell Abbey, and faces the dangers and horror of WW1 in this prequel novella. Beginning with the battle of the Somme, Nigel Hazelton is thrown into the dangers of trench warfare. Memories of his home of Brideswell Abbey and the fiancée he left behind keep him alive. He has vowed to protect his sister Julia's fiancée from the dangers of battle but is that a promise he can keep? When Nigel commits a daring act of bravery with no thought to his own safety, will his fiancée still love him despite the wounds he has suffered? Or has war changed Nigel too much? Read more about Nigel in An American Duchess by Sharon Page, where Nigel meets brazen American heiress and aviatrix Zoe Gifford, who intends to marry then divorce his wild younger brother to access her fortune and save her mother from disaster. But Nigel intends to stand in her way. Fans of Downton Abbey should reach for An American Duchess. Page's captivating prose evokes the Roaring Twenties with skillful and vivid detail and creates a searing romance with a timeless message. International Bestselling author Pam Jenoff on An American Duchess
