

The Collected Novels of Toni Morrison

Beautiful cloth-bound editions of the Nobel Prizewinning authors first six novelsher seminal works, together for the first time in one box set: The Bluest Eye, Sula, Song of Solomon, Tar Baby, Beloved, and Jazz. Traveling from rural Ohios postCivil War years to Harlem in the 1920s to a Caribbean island at the beginning of the 1980s, these novelspublished from 1970 to 1992, a year before Morrison was awarded the Nobel Prizeare extraordinary for the rich and variegated lenses they hold up to the black experience in America, and for their remarkable poetry, the brilliant ways in which they mold and remold the English language. Through the stories of Pecola Breedlove, Sula, Milkman Dead, Jadine and Son, Sethe, and Joe and Violet Trace, Morrison gives indelible, individual voices to those who have never before had a chance to speak. Taken collectively, they form a singular masterpiece, an eloquent and necessary testament to Morrisons decades of genius.
